[Name of the person or group.]	[Background and characteristics of the stakeholder.]	[Details the approach to be taken to build an effective relationship with the stakeholder.]

Timothy Maciag	Stakeholder is our class professor. Plays the role of Scrum Master and has a high level of authority over the project and its outcomes.	Consult with this stakeholder regularly as per his given deadlines to update on plans to move forward and day-to-day activity progress reports. May also reach out to this person as a source of help when we encounter major roadblocks.
Adhanna Hiyas	Stakeholder is a member of the developer team.	Heavily involved with the day-to-day activity and active development of the project. Keep involved during all stages.
Kristoffersen Garces	Stakeholder is a member of the	Heavily involved with the day-to-day activity developer team.	and active development of the project. Keep involved during all stages.

Khelan Natha	Stakeholder is a member of the developer team, and appointed Project Manager.	Heavily involved with the day-to-day activity and active development of the project. Keep involved during all stages.
College Students	Stakeholder is our product's intended user base.	Not involved at all with the day-to-day activity and active development of the project. However, team to seek input/feedback from our intended user base throughout development/testing phases. This interaction will be important in designing, implementing and testing the project's MVPs.
